

COVERING AMERICA'S KIDS

There are approximately 75 million children in the United States.¹

ABOUT 95% OF CHILDREN ARE INSURED THROUGH A VARIETY OF PROGRAMS, INCLUDING:

- MEDICAID
- THE CHILDREN'S HEALTH INSURANCE PROGRAM (CHIP)
- TRICARE
- EMPLOYER-BASED
- DIRECT PURCHASE
- AND OTHER PUBLIC COVERAGE.

The above estimates are not adjusted to address the "Medicaid undercount" often observed when comparing survey data to the reported higher numbers of individuals enrolled in Medicaid and CHIP using federal and state administrative data.
